ELIZABETH MORGAN

A native of Oakland, California, Elizabeth Morgan is a historical musicologist and pianist. Her research interests include keyboard and chamber music of the long 19th century; music and the body; virtuosity; and music and gender in the United States and Great Britain. She has published articles in 19th-Century Music, the Journal of the Society for American Music, and Nineteenth-Century Music Review, and she has contributed to collections published by Ashgate and Routledge. As a pianist, Morgan has performed throughout the U.S., as well as abroad. She frequently gives conversational and lecture recitals, where she introduces musical works with commentary from the keyboard, often tying programs together with a common theme or idea. In recent seasons, she has performed as soloist with orchestras on both coasts, including Carnival of the Animals with the Seattle Symphony, Gershwin Concerto in F with the Williamsport Symphony, and the Beethoven Triple Concerto with the Pennsylvania Chamber Orchestra, and she has given lecture recitals at countless American universities. She received her undergraduate and master's degrees in piano performance at Juilliard and completed a Doctor of Musical Arts degree in piano at UCLA, concurrently with her Ph.D. in musicology.

Morgan teaches music history, piano performance, and chamber music at St. Joseph's University. She lives outside of Philadelphia with her husband and their two sons.

Support the MTSU School of Music

The School of Music has a proud history of providing an outstanding education to thousands of students who have gone on to successful careers. We are passionate about music and excited to be at the forefront of educating musicians for our state and beyond. We invite you to make a tax-deductible gift to support the School of Music. Your donation will have a significant impact on current and future MTSU students as they become the next generation of composers, conductors, educators, historians, industry specialists, performers, and music theorists. For more information, contact Meredith Kerr, College of Liberal Arts development officer, at 615-898-5223 or meredith.kerr@mtsu.edu.
